CLIENT OVERVIEW

Avram Corporation is a consulting firm working across four continents to help its clients improve adverse conditions impacting communities around the world. CEO Herbert Coleman formed the company in 1994. Avram is a trusted provider of program and technology services to government agencies and commercial interests globally. Avram’s public health team consists of internationally recognized scientists and medical professionals.

CLIENT IMPACT

“We have a culture here at Avram, we are self-starters, we are self-motivated, we want to finish first. The advice we get from MCB keeps us out front. We work with good, sharp people.”

THE SITUATION

CEO Herbert Coleman wanted to work with the “absolute best accounting firm I could find.” After a thorough search and several referrals, he narrowed it down to a few firms. After interviewing MCB’s Managing Partner Jude Covas, he felt immediately comfortable and confident that the firm understood his goals and his philosophy. “Our contacts at MCB are like members of our own staff,” Coleman said.

MCB IMPACT

Avram feels MCB truly understands its business and how the firm needs to function to best serve its global client base, which includes federal government agencies, foreign ministries of health, non-government organizations (NGOs), for-profit and non-profit organizations, and educational institutions. “MCB works closely with our CFO, and every member of our team. They always have time for us.”

KEY RESULTS DELIVERED

Over the past seven years, the MCB team, including Principal Nimish Sanghavi, has been instrumental in Avram’s continued expansion and growth, especially when it comes to breadth of programming. “The advice we get from MCB is germane to the programs we offer,” Coleman said. “We are very happy. We’re working with the best in the country.”
